Now available our own cast composite seed boots for John Deere 90 series openers. Aricks seed boots are genuine extended wear and manufactured to last using high strength quality materials

Used in conjunction with our specially designed shouldered bolts, aricks seed boots can virtually eliminate the vertical play often synonymous with these opener attachments. Ensuring correct seed placement plays an integral part in achieving a high germination rate.

As evident in the photo, above and left, movement in the boot attachment can be very damaging to structural components and parts on your machine. Our aim is to eliminate this unwanted movement and preserve the integrity of the structural components of the drill, whilst maintaining accurate seed placement.
